THE

DUBLIN REVIEW.

70

VOL. XVIII. NEW SERIES.

JANUARY—~~JUNE~~ April,

MDCCCLXXII.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,
DETROIT, MICH.
SEP 17 1909

LONDON:
BURNS, OATES, & CO., 17 & 18, PORTMAN STREET,
AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.
DERBY: RICHARDSON & SONS.
DUBLIN: JAMES DUFFY; W. B. KELLY; McGLASHAN & GILL.
BALTIMORE: KELLY, PIET & CO.
MONTREAL, CANADA: SADLER & CO.
1872.

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—LIBERALISM RELIGIOUS AND ECCLESIASTICAL.

Constitutive tenets of Catholic liberalism 1
Common origin of these 3
Temporalism 5
Intellectualism 10
Indifferentism 12
Ecclesiastical liberalism 14
Objections considered against the denunciation of Catholic liberalism . 15
Such denunciation required in the interest of souls 24

ART. II.—NATURE AND THE POETS.

Study of Nature always associated with Religion 25
Views of Dr. Dircks 26
Greek and Roman Poets in relation to Nature 28
Milton's Pagan tone of thought 30
Mr. Morris's neo-Paganism 31
Shelley's Nature-worship 32
Ancient sense of the discord in Nature 34
Christianity in relation to Nature 35
The Poet's mission 38
Specimens of Nature poetry 41
Dr. Newman on the Powers of Nature 42

ART. III.—MR. MILL ON THE FOUNDATION OF MORALITY.

Domestic controversies on this matter 44
The issue joined with Mr. Mill 47
Moral goodness a simple idea 48
Certain moral truths self-evidently necessary 51
Intuitive knowledge that all acts, morally evil, are prohibited by a Personal Being 55
This Being inferred to be Supreme Legislator of the Universe . . 56
Mr. Mill's appeal to man's primordial faculties 58
Mr. Bain's appeal to divergences of moral judgment 62
Mr. Mill implicitly embraces the doctrine which he speculatively opposes 71
Criticism of his speculative position 74

ART. IV.—FICTIONS OF THE FUTURE.

Criminal character of sensational fiction 76
Sensational novels of the future 77
Mr. Maguire's book 78
A Political Dialogue 79
The Woman's Rights question 81
A scene in the Strangers' Gallery 83
The Marquis of Sidonia 85
General estimate of the book 86
Anno Domini 2071 89
Future London 91
The Coming Race 93
Sketch of the story 94
The Virtues of Vril 97
Imaginary invasion of the next generation by the Vril-ya . . . 101

ART. V.—IMPERIAL AND REPUBLICAN DIPLOMACY IN FRANCE FROM 1866 TO 1870.

French outcry against the Imperial diplomacy 103
A wrong verdict 104
Reports of Baron Stoffel 105
Works of MM. Benedetti and Favre 106
First period of M. Benedetti's mission 107
Quarrel between Austria and Prussia 110
M. Bismarck's proposals to France 111
Proposition to cede Mayence 115
Change in M. Bismarck's attitude after the Treaty of Prague . . 118
His responsibility in regard to the war 122
The candidature of Prince Leopold 124
M. Favre at the Foreign Office 125
Dealings with M. Nigra 128
M. Favre on the attitude of the Pope 129
The Pope and France 130
Mission of Count d'Harcourt 132
Speech of the Bishop of Orleans on the Roman Question . . . 134

ART. VI.—THE WORLD TURNED ATHEIST: HOW IT HAS BECOME SO.

Present state of Christendom 136
Its causes 137
Characteristics of Protestantism 138
The principles of Naturalism 141
"A free Church in a free State" 142

Duties of Government towards the Church 145
Lord Macaulay on the end of Government 146
Origin of Civil Powers and Society 150
Lord Macaulay's argument examined 156
Government and the "propagation of religious truth" 159
Paternal government 162
The State contrasted with other associations 164
The State's duty towards good works 167
Conclusion 168

ART. VII.—THE POPE AND EUROPE IN 1872.

State of Europe at the commencement of the year 168
Condition of Paris 169
Authority of M. Thiers 171
Position of the Duke d'Aumale 173
Policy of the Count de Chambord 174
The French army 175
The Duke de Magenta 176
The true and the false France 178
Position of Austria 179
The Holy Father on the apostate character of the age 181
The Church and Christendom 182
The Holy Father's words to the Roman Nobles and Cardinals . . 183
His faith in the triumph of the Holy See 184

ART. VIII.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Archbishop Manning's Sermons on Ecclesiastical Subjects . . . 185
" " on the Fourfold Sovereignty of God . . . 187
Frassinetti's Dogmatic Catechism 190
The "Contemporary Review," Mr. Mivart and Professor Huxley . 195
F. Morris's Condition of Catholics under James I. 201
Dr. Newman's Essays Critical and Historical 207
Spiritual Works of Louis of Blois 210
Dr. Molloy's account of the Passion Play 211
F. Ponlevoy's Acts of the Jesuit Hostages 212
B. Angela of Foligno's Vision 214
Mr. Lewis's Book of the Foundation of S. Teresa 215
"The Spectator" 218
"Fraser's Magazine" 223
L'Infallibilità Pontificia 226
The Revival of Christianity in Syria 227
Mr. Collins's Cistercian Legends 228
Dr. M'Corry's Monks of Iona 229

Insula Sanctorum 230
Traditions of the Syrian Church 231
Dom Sweeney's Joys of a Consecrated Church 233
Tyborne, and who went thither 234
Dr. Anderdon's Christian Æsop 235
Mr. Powell's Pontifical Zouaves 237
Mr. Elwin's edition of Pope's Works 238
Mr. Gallwey's Lays of Killarney Lakes 243
Mr. Meehan's Fate and Fortunes of Hugh O'Neill 245
M. Garnier's Voyage autour du Monde 246

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—THE PHILOSOPHY OF SUBJECTIVE RELIGION.

A philosophical examination of subjective religion, or religiousness, a necessary part of a complete philosophy of religion. . . . 249
Subject-matter of such an examination 250
Methods of investigation 252
Functions 253
Object and general plan of Mr. Baring-Gould's work 255
Its execution 256
Not only our intellect, but no part of our nature, can, if properly used, mislead us 258
First argument 262
Second argument 263
Third argument 265
Two consequences 265
Primarily and secondarily religious instincts 267
Mr. Baring-Gould's arguments against Positivism 270
He accounts an instinct pointing to immortality to be the first of the forces which urge man toward religion. His analysis of it . . 273
The second force is the moral law 274
Asceticism 278
The ethical leanings of Polytheism and Monotheism contrasted . . 279
The religion of utilitarianism 280
He accounts an instinctive tendency to look for a cause of observed effects to be the third force urging man toward religion; and appears to hold the volition-theory of causation 281
The last of the primarily religious instincts is a disposition to form an ideal of attainment, which postulates the existence of an absolute ideal, God 283
Concluding Remarks 284

ART. II.—FATHER LIBERATORE, FATHER HARPER, AND LORD ROBERT MONTAGU.

F. Liberatore's language on Catholic Liberals 285
General statement of his doctrine 287
Reasons for raising the question 288
F. Harper's volume 293
Lord Robert Montagu's work 297
Character of F. Liberatore's work 300

State's office in the merely national order 301
State's office in relation to the Church 303
Existing tendencies of society 307

ART. III.—SAINTS' LIVES AS SPIRITUAL READING.

Value of the study of Saints' Lives 308
The Saints in England 310
Religious orders in England 312
The poor of London 313
Growth of a sound Catholic spirit 314
The Oratorian series 317
F. Faber's essay on Saints' lives 320
F. Coleridge's life of S. Francis Xavier 322
Letters of S. Francis 327
Value of the hagiological method 329
The Church in England 331

ART. IV.—PROTESTANT LECTURES ON MODERN SCEPTICISM.

The Protestant contest with scepticism 333
Dr. Ellicott's introductory paper 334
Physicists and dogmatic religion 336
Science and miracles 338
Prevailing secularism of thought 339
Private judgment 341
Scope of the lectures on modern scepticism 342
Dr. Payne Smith's lecture 344
The Bishop of Ely's lecture 347

ART. V.—REVISED ENGLISH VERSION OF THE PSALMS.

Archbishop Manning's preface 351
The kingdoms of nature and of grace 352
Types in Scripture 353
Character of the new translation 354
Ancient English versions 356
The Rheims and Douay version 357
Latinized diction 359
New version more vigorous than the Douay 361

ART. VI.—MR. PLUMMER'S TRANSLATION OF DR. DÖLLINGER ON THE POPE.

Dr. Döllinger's present unhappy position 363

His historical dogmatism 363
Mr. Plummer's misrepresentation 364
His attack on Archbishop Manning 366
The question of the two wills 368
Origin of Monothelism 370
The doctrine of Maximus 372
Mr. Plummer's own view 374
Real value of Dr. Döllinger's book 375
Mr. Plummer's prophecy 377

ART. VII.—THE WORKS OF CHARLES LEVER.

Mr. Lever's announcement of a last appearance 379
His specialities as a novelist 381
The military, social, and politico-social series 382
"Harry Lorrequer" 384
The choleric Irishman 387
Mickey Free 388
Peninsular pictures 390
Irish life as it was and as it is 391
Unfair and prejudiced treatment of priests 394
Mr. Lever's descriptions of scenery 397
His villains and schemers 398
His respect for women, and the purity of his novels 402
Grog Davis and Annesley Becher 404
Mr. Lever's great ladies 404
His shallow views on political affairs 405
The humour and pathos of his sketches of peasant life 407

ART. VIII.—PARLIAMENT AND CATHOLIC EDUCATION.

The Government and Irish education 409
Christian education the great question of the day 410
The English Act 413
Archbishop Manning's Pastoral 414
Compulsory education 415
The conscience clause and time table 416
Pius IX. on primary education 417
Passages from Canon Oakeley's pamphlet 417
Actual power of the Catholic teacher under the English Act . . . 420
Importance of having good Catholic teachers 422
Mr. Froude on general knowledge 422
Catholic higher education 424
The London University philosophical question 425
The religious education of non-Catholics 426
Demands of the Irish Bishops 427

The Irish National Schools 430
The O'Conor Don on higher education 432
The O'Conor Don on the state of Irish Catholic opinion . . . 434
The relation of English public men to Catholics 437

ART. IX.—THE GOTHIC REVIVAL.

ART. X.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Archbishop Manning's Sermons on Ecclesiastical Subjects . . . 452
„ „ Dæmon of Socrates 455
Dr. Melia's Hints and Facts on the Origin of Man 459
Mr. Darwin's Origin of Species 459
La Civiltà Cattolica 459
Dr. Newman's Fifteen Sermons preached before the University of Oxford 463
Acta et Decreta Sacrorum Conciliorum 465
Dr. Hefele's History of the Christian Councils 467
F. Tondini's Pope of Rome and the Popes of the Oriental Orthodox Church 469
The Patriarch and the Tzar 473
Mr. Burgon's Last Twelve Verses of the Gospel according to S. Mark vindicated 477
Mrs. Hope's Conversion of the Teutonic Race 483
Mr. Hepworth Dixon's The Switzers 485
Mr. Howley's Universities and Secondary Schools of Ireland . 490
Messrs. Cox and Jones's Popular Romances of the Middle Ages . 492
Miss Elliot's Pictures of Old Rome 494
F. Brownlow's Church of England and its Defenders 495
Mr. Baring-Gould's Lives of the Saints 496
Memoir of Paul Seigneret, Séminariste de Saint Sulpice . . . 498
First and Last Acts of the Commune 499
Monsignore Patterson's Martyr Spirit 501
F. De Sarasa's Compendium of the Art of Rejoicing 502
The Demonstration in Baltimore and Washington in honour of Pius IX. 503
Spiritual Contract of the Soul with God 504
F. Keller's Panegyric of S. Joseph 504
Catholic Progress 504